COURSE DESCRIPTION

In this course we will explore historical and contemporary scholarship that addresses the discursive construction of sexuality. The focus is on thinking through disciplinarity via an engagement with queer anthropology, but we will engage significantly with queer studies work in other disciplines (e.g., history, literary criticism), as well as ethnographic work in other disciplines (e.g., sociology). We will also examine how the discipline of anthropology has been constitutively shaped by engagements with questions of sexuality. Readings and course discussions will address questions of intersectionality and sexuality, including but not limited to activism, colonialism, disability, ethnicity, gender, globalization, labor, race, and religion. There is extensive attention to contexts both within and outside the United States.

The course is meant to be focused on reading and discussion, rather than writing.
There is what appears to be a heavy reading load, but I will provide guidance on how to improve your ability to engage productively with large amounts of reading and the amount of writing you must do is reduced. Note: I will not allow any student to take an incomplete for this course under any circumstances. The seminar discussions will follow three basic guidelines:

Generosity. With a ten-week course there simply is not time for substandard texts. All readings selected for the syllabus are insightful and theoretically innovative. Critiquing aspects of the readings is fine, but if you find yourself rejecting an argument in toto, this indicates your reading is insufficiently generous.
Provisionality. You are allowed (indeed, encouraged) to think out loud, say something and then take it back, and generally speak in a provisional manner, knowing that those around you will be patient, supportive, and slow to take offense.

Community. Some individuals are quite comfortable speaking at length: this is desirable, but the instructor reserves the right to ask persons to wrap up their comments, or to solicit comments from persons who have not yet participated in any particular course meeting.

Course Requirements

1) Seven two-page précis
The primary requirement of the course is that you do seven (7) précis, which we will share with each other. This means you can choose three weeks (including Week 1) in which you do not have to do a précis. Each précis should be 2,500–3,500 characters in length. This is approximately 400–500 words, or 1.5–2 double-spaced pages, but you will be assessed based on character count). Each précis should take the form of critical questions, commentary, and analysis about at least two of the required readings for that week. If there is a book assigned for a particular week, that book must be one of the two minimum required readings discussed. (If you meet the requirement of discussing two required readings, you may also discuss other required readings and/or suggested readings, but you will not receive full credit if you discuss only suggested readings, or one required reading and one suggested reading.) A précis can link the readings for a particular week to earlier course readings or readings from outside the course, but particularly the latter of these is discouraged. I discourage negative critiques; focus on generous engagement, linking the readings to our discussions. You should look briefly at all assigned readings and be prepared to discuss them, even if you do not write about a reading in your précis (or do not do a précis at all that week).

A précis must be uploaded onto the course’s Google Forms website before the beginning of class. You may optionally also bring one or more hard copies to class. A précis can never be turned in late. If you do not attend class, or leave class early, any précis you submit that day will not be counted. Each précis counts for 10 percent of your overall grade, so the seven précis together constitute 70% of the overall grade. Please note that falling even one précis short will thus severely impact your grade. You will receive only partial credit for a précis that does not meet the minimum requirements discussed above; if you do an additional (eighth, ninth, or tenth) précis, the grade for that additional précis can replace an earlier précis with a lower grade.

2) The final paper
You must write a course paper, which will be 30% of your overall grade. It must be emailed by the deadline as a single Word document (not pdf) to tboellst@uci.edu. Due to the emphasis on reading and précis, the final paper is relatively short. It should be 4,000–5,000 words long, inclusive of title, endnotes, and references (I will use the word count function of Word to confirm this). The paper can be on any topic that relates to the course, so long as you obtain my approval and so long as you cite and draw upon course texts and discussions in an extensive manner. I encourage you to engage in some way with your own research interests. You must use either Chicago Style (used by the American Anthropological Association) or some other style you prefer (e.g., MLA style), so long as you are consistent. You must include full bibliographic references to course texts as they are used. You may bring in outside readings, but it is not necessary to do so and they should not overwhelm or substitute for course readings.

The course grade will thus be calculated as follows:

Seven précis times ten points per précis = 70 points
Final paper = 30 points
Total = 100 points

You will then be assigned a letter grade as follows: A+ 96.7–100; A 93.4–96.6; A- 90–93.3; B+ 86.7–89.9; B 83.4–86.6; B- 80–83.3; C+ 76.7–79.9; C 73.4–76.6; C- 70–73.3; D 65–69.9; F 64.9 and below.

Students with disabilities: to quote from my colleague Karen Nakamura’s syllabus, “If you need a reasonable (or even unreasonable) accommodation, please let me know and I’ll make it happen. This goes triply for folks with non-visible disabilities or who pass or mask or compensate. No need to do that here.” The Disabilities Services Center has many resources; registering with them can help ensure appropriate arrangements in all your courses (see http://www.disability.uci.edu/).

Course Texts

The following books are available at the bookstore, online, or on reserve. I will explain how to access the other readings during the first course meeting.
